

DECHERT IN Orange County

Since joining the office in 2012, I have enjoyed the wonderful opportunity of consistently working on substantive, multifaceted financial services projects for local, national and international clients. My favorite aspect of working in this office is being able to build relationships with current and potential clients in a collaborative and supportive environment.

 - Helping a small community in Puerto Rico recover from last year's devastating hurricanes by providing food packages, clothing, vegetables seeds and hygiene supplies.
 - As in past years, we provided clothing, shoes, socks, warm coats, and back-to-school supplies to young people living on reservations in the Four Corners area of the Southwest United States.
 - Also as in prior years, we gathered and provided backpacks filled with back-to-school supplies to children of families living in local area motels.
- On an ongoing basis, we partner with the Public Law Center to provide pro bono legal services to low-income and indigent clients in Orange County.
