Services

Product Liability and Mass Torts >      Complex Commercial Litigation >

Lauren Gumerove focuses her practice on pharmaceutical product liability and mass torts, with an emphasis on complex litigation in state and federal courts concerning personal injury and consumer fraud, including multidistrict and class action litigations. Ms. Gumerove has experience with many aspects of litigation strategy, including fact and expert witness discovery and case workup, motion practice, preparing for trial, and settlement. She has experience successfully briefing motions, leading meet-and-confers with opposing counsel and managing complex discovery. Ms. Gumerove has also written for the American Bar Association.

Prior to joining the firm, Ms. Gumerove was an associate at another international law firm. While there, Ms. Gumerove represented clients in the pharmaceutical industry in product liability and class action matters in state and federal courts.

EXPERIENCE

- Defended global pharmaceutical company in numerous individual personal injury lawsuits filed in federal and state courts, drafting successful opposition to multidistrict litigation petition and multiple successful motions to dismiss involving federal preemption.
- Represented multinational pharmaceutical company in class action litigation and individual personal injury and economic loss lawsuits arising out of recalled drug.
- Represented personal care product manufacturer in class action litigation involving consumer fraud allegations.

Includes matters handled at Dechert or prior to joining the firm.
