Thirith von Döhren focuses his practice on European and German competition law. He advises national and international clients on a wide array of competition law issues, with a particular focus on complex merger control proceedings as well as cartel and abuse of dominance investigations before the German Federal Cartel Office and the European Commission. Mr. von Döhren's experience extends to counseling clients in a variety of industries including health care, financial services and the food retail sector.

In addition, Mr. von Döhren is experienced in advising companies and financial investors on corporate law, particularly company formation, national and cross-border M&A transactions and restructurings, corporate implementation, as well as general corporate and commercial law matters. Mr. von Döhren has particular experience in advising clients active in the automotive, electronics, and software industries.

Prior to joining Dechert, Mr. von Döhren served as an associate at a leading commercial law firm. His previous experience also includes a traineeship in the Competition Department at an international law firm in Paris, and a clerkship in the Competition Department at an international law firm in Brussels.
